

MemeSense – Investor Overview

What is MemeSense?

MemeSense is an AI-powered radar for discovering early-stage meme coins before they go viral. It helps retail traders, investors, and degens catch the next 'Pepe', 'Bonk', or 'Shiba' before the hype peaks. By combining sentiment data, price action, volume spikes, and custom scoring logic, MemeSense flags potential breakout tokens in real-time across both centralized and decentralized exchanges.

The Vision & Opportunity

Meme coins have created life-changing wealth for early movers. But most investors only hear about them after they've already mooned. MemeSense solves this by acting as a radar for new, trending, and explosive meme tokens, helping users get in early. We aim to be the go-to intelligence platform for meme coin discovery, starting with a simple web app, and eventually growing into a full-blown mobile app with push alerts, watchlists, and AI-powered insights.

Current Progress

- Live backend that scores meme coins by hype, volume, and price momentum - Streamlit-based dashboard to visualize real-time coin data - Watchlist and Alerts system already working - In development: integration with on-chain platforms like DEXTools and GeckoTerminal

Where We're Stuck

To fully access trending on-chain data (from platforms like GeckoTerminal), we need access to CoinGecko's Pro API plan. This subscription costs $139/month - and it's currently our biggest blocker. We've hit the limits of demo access and can't retrieve on-chain trending tokens without this paid tier. This data is critical to scoring and detecting fresh meme tokens before the broader market sees them.

How You Can Help

We're seeking initial capital to: - Pay for Pro API access and integrate real on-chain data - Scale our backend infrastructure - Accelerate UI/UX development for public beta Even a small contribution unlocks real-time DEX data and lets us build a product users can rely on for early alpha detection.

How MemeSense Will Make Money

- Premium access with a paid subscription for alerts, insights, and early calls - Tiered pricing for Pro traders, Influencers, and Analysts - Affiliate partnerships with exchanges - Ads and featured placements for meme coin projects With enough traffic and community buzz, MemeSense becomes a revenue-generating, community-loved product in the meme coin ecosystem.

Meet the Founder

My name is Abiodun Adebayo, a 20-year-old Math and Computer Science student in Canada. I'm building MemeSense because I believe meme coins move markets — and regular investors deserve real tools to catch the next big breakout early. I've already built the backend, dashboard, scoring logic, and investor pitch — I'm all in. This isn't just a project; it's the beginning of something big.

Let's Build the Meme Alpha Engine

MemeSense is a high-upside startup that helps everyday investors catch explosive meme coins early. With your help, we can finish our MVP, unlock on-chain data, and launch to the world. We're ready to build. We just need fuel.